

Welcome to Protocol Sub-Unit

We have been praying for you to come, and we are glad to have you here at last. Your presence here is not by chance, but a call to serve. As stated in Galatians 1:10, our service is unto God and not unto man. For this reason, love, order, discipline, and unity are central to all we do in Protocol.

Hospitality is the haven of God's love within the Covenant University Chaplaincy, and Protocol is responsible for maintaining order within Hospitality unit. We serve a God of order; therefore, enforcing order is part of our service. This service is not always convenient, but it is commanded.

Once again, welcome!!

You are deeply and truly loved.

Why we serve (The purpose of Protocol)

The essence of this sub-unit is service, serving primarily from a place of love. We exist to ensure order and coordination within the Hospitality Unit while reflecting the heart of God through our conduct. As protocol members, we are highly visible and often represent the image of Hospitality, so we lead by example in attitude, discipline, and service. Through this, we help create a welcoming and organized hospitality unit where people genuinely feel loved. (1 Timothy 4:12)

How we serve (Roles and Responsibilities)

1. Provost: The provost functions as the overall supervisor, ensuring orderliness and that everyone serving as protocol carries out their duties effectively. This supervision begins from the night before the service and continues until all members are properly seated in their assigned hospitality seats during the service. The provost also ensures that Gentleness 03 is reserved for Hospitality.

2. Entrance Allocation: This role involves allocating Hospitality seats to members, ensuring that 03 seats are assigned to executives. The officer ensures that those serving are fit and compliant with chapel and school rules. This includes checking proper dressing, Bible, pen, and ID cards. This officer should also be able to encourage and motivate members to serve. Allocation closes 20 minutes into the preservice, and the officer is responsible for confirming that all members are at their assigned posts before the service begins.

3. Tag Allocation: This officer is responsible for giving tags before the service starts only to members who are serving. Taking note of the executive and member tags separately. This role works closely with Entrance Allocation to ensure proper coordination. This role includes counting during pre-service for double confirmation.

4. Counting during pre-service: This role ensures that counting during the service is done accurately and completely. Counting must be carried out separately for males and females. The role includes ensuring pre-service is orderly so all attendees can fully participate uninterrupted, keeping prayer circles concentric.

5. Tag Collection: After the service, this officer is responsible for collecting all hospitality tags from every entrance and ensuring that no one leaves with a hospitality tag.

NOTE: ATTENDANCE AT PROTOCOL MEETINGS IS A PREREQUISITE TO SERVE AS PROTOCOL Meetings are held every Tuesday by 5:30 pm in hospitality office.

And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'
